DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on Dec 28, 2004 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-9 and 11-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holman, US Patent No. 5,544,540 in view of Smith, US Patent No. 3,135,213.

Holman discloses in Fig 3, a fluid pump mounted within a transmission reservoir comprising a pump housing; a pump element; a pumping chamber having an intake port and an exit port which are oriented in a substantially coplanar relationship; at least one other intake port 61 or exit port 62 derived from porting configured in a surface adjacent to and not integral with the pump; but does not disclose said pump element operatively connected to an electric motor wherein said motor is disposed in said pump housing.

Art Unit: 3682

However, Smith teaches in the Figure a submersible motor pump comprising, inter alia, a pump element operatively connected to an electric motor; said motor disposed within a pump housing.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the apparatus of Holman in view of the teachings of Smith to connect said pump element to an electric motor so as to eliminate the need to connect said pump element to a driven shaft or gear of the transmission and provide operation of said pump when said transmission is not operated.

Response to Arguments

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, the motivation is found in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. It is a well known method to operate a pump within a transmission with a separate power source rather than relying on its own drive shaft for the purpose of continual delivery of lubricant when transmission is not operated.

Additionally, the examiner recognizes that references cannot be arbitrarily combined and that there must be some reason why one skilled in the art would be motivated to make the proposed combination of primary and secondary references. In re Nomiya, 184 USPQ 607 (CCPA 1975). However, there is no requirement that a motivation to make the modification be expressly articulated. The test for combining references is what the combination of the disclosures taken as a whole would suggest to one of ordinary skill in the art. In re Simon, 174 USPQ (CCPA 1972); In re McLaughlin, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971). References are evaluated by what they suggest to one versed in the art, rather than by their specific disclosures. In re Bozek, 163 USPQ 545 (CCPA 1969).

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to the inlet and outlet ports being coplanar have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
